

Diwali celebrations' in MAIMS

“This Diwali help society was the mantra at MAIMS on Diwali 2014”

MAIMS organized stalls from two NGO's and a visit to Old Aage home for Diwali celebration which gave the right feel of festivity and excitement in the campus.

At MAIMS we take initiatives to celebrate every festival with great enthusiasm. On this Diwali MAIMS organized stalls from ANTERDRISHTI (organization of blind people) and ANTERKRANTI (organization of Tihar jail prisoners). They displayed and sold the products made by blind people and prisoners for two days i.e 16th and 17th October 2014

An overwhelming response came from teachers and students. They purchased lots of gift items from both the stalls. Items available on these stalls were decorated diyas, candles, incense sticks, soaps, face packs, heena and some eatables like biscuits and namkeens etc. This way it served both the purpose – celebration of the festival and helping the society, at large.

The Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Management Studies has a socio-cultural society called MACS. Nav-Chetna club of MACS endeavors to contribute to the socio-cultural development process. This group arranges old clothes donation drive, stage street plays, visits to slum areas, orphanage, Old Age home and blind schools etc.

On 20th October a group of 35 students accompanied by MAIMS fraternity, visited the Old-age home to celebrate Diwali with them. Our students were moved to see the pain on the faces of old people because of young generation and decided not to give such pains to their elders. Students performed dance on old songs and sang old songs which take them to their old days' memories. This small gesture of students gave them a lot of happiness. Then students burst few crackers with them and distributed sweet boxes over there and at the end we all had tea together.
