III. FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

(29TH July 2021 TO 4TH August 2021)

A seven day Faculty Development Program was organised by the Department of Law, Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Management Studies from 29th July 2021 to 4th August 2021. The theme of the FDP was “ Changing Aspects of Law and Teaching Pedagogy in Contemporary India”. Its purpose was not just to facilitate up gradation of Knowledge and skills in the area of research in law, but also to help participants stay motivated and updated about the diverse teaching methods developed during and due to the pandemic situation.

A total of sixteen sessions were conducted by academicians and experts of repute in their particular fields. The topics covered ranged from Research methodology to Emerging Learnings in Criminal Law, IPR and Cyber Law, OTT and Health Laws to Energy laws and ADR.

DAY I: The resource person of the first session was Prof.(Dr.) Manoj Kumar Sinha who is the Director of the Indian law Institute, New Delhi and the topic was ” Outcome Based Pedagogy in Research”. Prof. Sinha emphasized the significance of outcome in research. According to Prof. Sinha ‘outcome’ should be applied simultaneously in research as well as in teaching i.e. to say that teaching and research are interlinked with each other and the more a teacher conducts research, the better can be their style. Prof. Sinha deliberated on various approaches of research which can be adopted in order to achieve the ‘defined goal’ and was of the firm opinion that research should not be seen in isolation. The focus of the research should be that there must be contribution in the form of outcome in the existing knowledge. The outcome must be the immediate solution to the particular problem. Sir also emphasised that the research title should be self-explanatory and should be clear and precise. The research questions should be linked with the research problems and the research should also provide the solutions and suggestions to the proposed problem.

DAY II: The second session's topic was "Interdisciplinary Research" and the speaker was Prof.(Dr.) Amar Pal Singh, Dean, USLLS, Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University.

Prof. Singh explained that 'research' cannot be learnt and has to be understood i.e. to say that it is a set of skills and has to be cultivated by carefully conducting it. He highlighted the New Education Policy (NEP) which marks its first anniversary on 29th July 2021 and discussed various aspects of the said policy. Sir also explained the wide variety of challenges that NEP faces in order to uplift the society and help the nation to grow and sustain into a large and vibrant economy. These challenges require top notch scientific research and deep understanding of humanities and social sciences. Art, culture, history and linguistic traditions require a high level of research and innovation. The National Education Policy also lays down that the Higher Education Institution (HEI) cannot survive today without quality research. Prof. Singh made some concluding observations where he critically analysed that the Law school teachers have developed a vested interest for outdated laws. He also emphasized that even though Law schools have the potential for extensive research, it has remained unexplored and the legal research has not been properly 'articulated' or 'nourished' in law schools.

DAY III: The topic of the Third session was "Legality of DNA Technology in Indian Scenario" and the resource person was Dr. Mohammad Asad Malik, who is Professor in Jamia Milia Islamia, Delhi. He comprehensively explained that the impact of the DNA technology on the Legal System is the need of the hour. It affects the legal outcome and provides 'certainty of identity'. Dr. Malik was of the opinion that DNA is one of the most powerful tools for investigation. Discussing the recommendations made by the Malimath Committee he said that conducting DNA test in the cases of Rape is a part of fair trial i.e. to say the courts find this way as the most legitimate one.

Sir discussed a wide variety of Supreme Court and High Court Judgements regarding the admissibility of DNA tests in the both civil and criminal cases and there is a possibility of these precedents being acted upon by legislature and parliament in the near future and ultimately leading to the creation of a law.

DAY IV: The topic of the fourth session was Criminal Law Reforms in Recent Times: Issues and Challenges and the Hon'ble Resource person who delivered the session was Prof. (Dr.) Mrinal Satish , former Chairperson of the Delhi Judicial Academy. Currently, and presently serving as Professor of Law at the National Law University, Delhi. Dr. Mrinal is also a member of the Supreme Court of India's Gender Sensitization and Internal Complaints Committee as a nominee of the Chief Justice of India.

He comprehensively deliberated upon various judgments of Supreme Court and High Court with reference to the criminal justice system wherein the Court passed judgments that in order to bring the changes in statute it is essential that the same must be done by legislature. Referring to the Sakshi v. Union of India case, where the Supreme Court asked the Law Commission to look into issue of reform of the Rape clause and subsequently, Law Commission gave their recommendation in 172nd Report. The Sakshi Case decision came out in 2005 wherein most of the recommendations were agreed upon but the judiciary stated that it is something which can be done by Legislature and not Judiciary. In the span of 10 years from 1995 – 2005, various reforms through judicial decisions came into picture but not much contributions were made by the legislature except for repealing the section 156(4) of Indian Evidence Act which states that past sexual history of women is something which cannot even be asked during cross examination.

Dr. Mrinal comprehensively discussed whether the amendments and law reforms that are introduced in due course have been able to achieve the objective of safeguarding the sexual autonomy and bodily integrity of women as Justice Verma Committee had envisaged and gave few examples regarding the same. He also discussed the provision of 'Mandatory Reporting' in the POCSO Act and how well this provision in the POCSO Act has worked.

DAY V:The fifth session of the FDP was addressed by Prof. (Dr.) Viney Kapoor Mehra, Vice Chancellor of the BR Ambedkar Law University , Sonapat. The topic of the session was “ Feminist Criminology: the Rising Trend”.

Explaining that the Criminology had been androcentric ( male-centric) field of study in social sciences in the past and a majority of study is based upon male criminality, but things have been changing and the female criminology is the new school of thought which focuses on both male and female offending as well as criminal justice system responses to their crimes. Feminist criminologists seek to keep gender at the centre of the discourse . It encompasses a wide range of theoretical perspectives and methodologies . Dr. Mehra explained that it incorporates the liberal feminist focus on equal opportunity.

Discussing about the latest and more pressing issue of cyber crime Prof. Mehra termed the cyber crime as “Cyber Harassment” of women and said that the women need to be very careful while sharing any content on the media platform. She stressed the need of educating the rural folk regarding the cyber crimes and how the reporting of such crimes can be done. It is only by reporting that we could help the police in catching the criminal by simple yet very effective method of tracking.

The phone tracking and the IP address tracking are some of the important tools through which the police can easily nab the criminal. Now every police station has a cyber cell where the affected person can go and complain.

At the same time she advised that we should be very careful while sharing content on the internet. Posting of too many pictures and personal details could be quite dangerous as the hackers are always in a chance to extract valuable information from the net and then blackmail the person.
