Subject: Request for visit to your industry
Dear Sir,

Department of Economics, Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Management Studies, seek your kind permission for an industrial visit to your reputed organization. 65 students along with 5 faculty members desire to visit your industry on Monday, March 7, 2022 to get practical exposure about working of textile industry.

At this juncture, it is a pleasure to introduce to you, our college and department on the behalf of student and faculty. MAIMS was established in 2003 by Maharaja Agrasen Technical Education Society. The Institute has attained a distinct position in running BBA, B. Com (H), BA Eco (H), BA (JMC), BALLB (Integrated) and BBALLB (integrated) programmes affiliated with Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University, Delhi. MAIMS has over the years grown into a premier Centre of excellence and has made its niche in the areas of teaching, research, consultancy and corporate development.

The Department of Economics at MAIMS was established in 2017 and introduced BA (H) Economics Programme. The vision of the department is to impart theoretical and applied knowledge of economics to students so that they can understand socio-economic problems at regional, national and international level for inclusive development of society.

Kindly schedule our visit in your organization. I look forward to hear from you, and thank you in advance for considering this request.

The implementation of specific programmes or projects under the above areas of cooperation will need to be negotiated on a case by case basis and be dependent upon the availability of funds and resources. Each specific programmes or projects will be covered by separate agreements between the institutions.

A designated person at each institution shall oversee and facilitate implementation of this agreement in cooperation with other appropriate administrators at the respective institutions.

The scope of activities under this agreement shall be determined by the funds regularly available at institutions for the types of collaboration undertaken and by such other financial assistance as may be obtained by either institution.

The present Memorandum comes into effect from the date of its signature by THE PARTIES and will remain valid for the period of 5 (five) years. Any institution wishing to terminate this agreement shall notify the other institutions in writing at least 6 (six) months prior to termination. In such case, exchange students and staff shall be permitted to complete the period of study or individual activities for which they are enrolled or assigned. The other agreements between the institutions that are established under this MOU shall not be affected in the event of this MOU being terminated. Any decision to renew or renegotiate the terms of this agreement shall be made on the basis of consultations among the institutions.

Sir/Ma'am,

We take this opportunity to congratulate you on the success of your students and thank you for the opportunity given to us to come for the campus placement. It was great knowing and interacting with each one of them.

As already communicated in the earlier mail, we have selected a few students for coming along to learn and grow with us. Attached herewith is the detailed excel sheet for further correspondences and joining processes. Further, as already intimated earlier, we expect the Assessment Internship to begin from 01.03.2022. Therefore, you're requested to send us a confirmation of joining of all the selected students by filling the confirmation column in the attached excel sheet latest by Friday.

In case of delay in joining by the students, you're requested to formally write to us, but the same shall strictly be subject to the final decision taken by the firm's management.

As a matter of clarification, the Compensation and Leave Policy for the students shall be the same as already provided with the firm's profile initially.

In case of any further queries/clarifications, you're requested to contact the concerned persons as mentioned in the excel sheet.

Thanks and Regards

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING

BETWEEN

MAHARAJA AGRASEN INSTITUTE OF MANAGEMENT STUDIES, ROHINI, DELHI

AND

DR. B.R. AMBEDKAR NATIONAL LAW UNIVERSITY, SONEPAT

This Memorandum of Understanding made and entered into on this Thursday of 11th November, 2021 between Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Management Studies, Rohini, Delhi 'hereinafter' referred MAIMS and Dr. B.R. Ambedkar National Law University, situated at Rai, Sonapat 'hereinafter' referred DBRANLU.

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar National Law University and Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Management Studies, Rohini, Delhi inspired by the extensive possibilities offered by cooperation, recognize the need to develop and nurture new partnerships, with the aim to promote research understanding and contribute to the pool of global knowledge. Considering their common interest in promoting the mutual cooperation in the area of education and research, both parties therefore wish to expand the basis for friendship and cooperative educational exchange and have set forth the following Memorandum of Understanding (MoU):

ARTICLE 1: Purpose

The purpose of this MoU is to promote academic and educational cooperation between MAIMS & DBRANLU on equal and reciprocal basis. It will be achieved through exchange of information on research, teaching, learning materials and other literature relevant to their educational and training programmes; joint organization of seminars, conferences, workshops and short term continuing education programs on topics of mutual interest and extending invitations to each other's faculty to participate in various programs;

ARTICLE 2: Areas of Co-operation

Cooperation between the two parties may be established within any field related to academic and research of mutual interest, for example in the following areas.

- a. Joint Supervision of Doctoral Studies
- b. Selection of Research Scholars
- c. Exchange of faculty as research guides.
- d. Organization of joint academic and scientific activities such as courses, conferences, seminars.
- e. Symposia or lectures.
- f. Exchange of academic publications and reports and
- g. Other activities that will promote research and academic ties.

Both parties will look into the possibilities of establishing Joint research Programs and other activities as aforesaid.

ARTICLE 3: Exchange of Faculty

Both the parties will encourage collaboration in research areas of mutual interest. Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Management Studies will welcome Dr. B.R. Ambedkar National Law University faculties to visit Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Management Studies to engage in academic and scientific research. Reciprocally Dr. B.R. Ambedkar National Law University will welcome academicians from Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Management Studies to Dr. B.R. Ambedkar National Law University in order to engage in academic and scientific research. Proposals concerning the topics, persons and periods of visits will be sent within a reasonable time in advance of the proposed visit.

ARTICLE 4: Areas of Students activities

This MoU provides opportunities for the exchange of students and Ph.D scholars nominated by the respective Institutions in order to carry out studies as provided for in this agreement including internships.

The participating students will continue as students for degrees of their parent Institution, and will be enrolled as affiliate (or non- award, non- degree) students in the host institution.

ARTICLE 5: Implementation

Implementation of exchange or other kinds of cooperation based on this agreement shall be the concern of the relevant faculties or departments on a case to case basis. A specific plan shall be worked out for each joint activity. This plan shall ensure that appropriate arrangements for studying, working and for living and maintenance expenses are made before the arrival of a faculty member or a student to the host institution.

ARTICLE 6: Cost & Financing of Cooperation

Both the institutions will seek funding for the link programme from various sources. The acquired funds will be subject to accounting procedures of the two Institutions. The collaborating institutions will offer logistic support for initiating the collaboration and for working out draft proposals for the activities. Both parties understand that all financial arrangements are to be negotiated and will depend on the availability of funds.

ARTICLE 7: Duration & Renewal of Agreement

This Memorandum of Understanding will take effect from the date of its signing and shall be valid for a period of five years from that date, unless terminated earlier upon six months notice by either party. The MoU may be revoked or modified by mutual agreement, between the parties, and may be extended beyond its initial five year term by mutual consent.

ARTICLE 8: Revision, termination and Language of Agreement

This agreement is subject to revisions, renewal and or cancellations which will take effect from the date of its signing of the revised document and shall be valid for a period of five years from that date, unless terminated earlier upon six months notice by either party. The MoU may be revoked or modified by mutual agreement, between the parties, and may be extended beyond its initial five year term by mutual agreement. This agreement is written in English, in two originals, both of equal validity.

ARTICLE 9: Non –Exclusivity

The relationship of the parties under this MoU shall be non exclusive and both parties, including their affiliates, subsidiaries and divisions, are free to pursue other agreements or collaborations of any kind.

ARTICLE 10: Relationship

Nothing in this MoU shall be construed to make either party a partner or agent or legal representative of the other for any purpose.

ARTICLE 11: Confidentiality

- (i) All information and documents to be exchanged pursuant to the Memorandum of Understanding will be kept confidential by the parties and will be used subject to such terms as each Party may specify. The Parties will not use the information for purposes other than the specified without the prior written consent of the other party. Such Information shall remain the exclusive property of the disclosing party.
- (ii) The parties agree that this agreement and the disclosure of the Confidential Information do not grant or imply any license, interest or right to the Recipient in respect to any intellectual property right of the other Party.
- (iii) Unpublished Information, whether oral, or written or otherwise, exchanged under the provisions of this MoU will not be transmitted to a third party, unless otherwise agreed upon by the parties.

are hereinafter indicated as "parties";

Considering the mutual interests in strengthening cooperation between MAIMS and FSRI, in order to promote peaceful, fair, sustainable and timely dispute resolution through mediation and related alternative dispute mechanisms, the parties hereto have reached the following understanding:

SECTION I - STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

1. This Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) memorializes the commitment of the parties to cooperate in providing guidance and assistance in promoting mediation at MAIMS Law School through support of the commercial mediation competition scheduled for March 2021, under the direction of Assistant Professor of Law, Kriti Johri. As mutually agreed upon and requested, instruction will be provided to the enrolled participants about mediation competition practices and procedures. Additional instruction will be provided by FSRI to promote and educate law students about the benefits of mediation, as well as to attorneys and new advocates on the skills of mediation advocacy in representing clients in mediation.
2. The parties intend to implement, in partnership, initiatives in their mutual interest to carry out the missions of their respective organizations, and to promote the successful implementation of the rule of law through peaceful, timely and effective dispute resolution.
3. Nothing in this MOU is intended to create rights or obligations under any national or international law.

SECTION II - OBJECTIVES

1. The objectives of this MOU are the development of partnership activities which may include, but are not limited to:
 - a. Serving as co-equal sponsors and co-equal recognition as such with respect to the law school commercial mediation competition to be held in March 2021, in conjunction with NALSA, Delhi Mediation Center and other sponsors;
 - b. Provide a training session on mediation for the enrolled participants in the above-mentioned mediation competition in advance of the competition;
 - c. Provide a training session on mediation and advocacy in mediation for interested law students at MAIMS;
 - d. Provide a training session on mediation advocacy skills for newly admitted advocates;
 - e. Provide a financial contribution in the amount of $US 400.00 towards the law school commercial mediation competition.
2. It is specifically acknowledged that FSRI's services, as an NGO, are focused on providing the services as set forth above, and, to the extent it collaborates with MAIMS, such collaboration may entail additional cooperation and services as needed and agreed to.

SECTION III - FINANCES

FSRI will provide volunteer services by its experts. FSRI will only provide a sponsor contribution as stated in paragraph Section II above as a one-time donation to support the mediation competition to be held in March 2021. FSRI undertakes no other financial obligation to MAIMS, and MAIMS is wholly responsible for any financial costs in implementing its mediation competition.

SECTION IV-VALIDITY

This Memorandum of Understanding shall be in force for a period of 6 months from the date of its signing and may be extended by mutual consent of the parties.

SECTION V - MODIFICATION

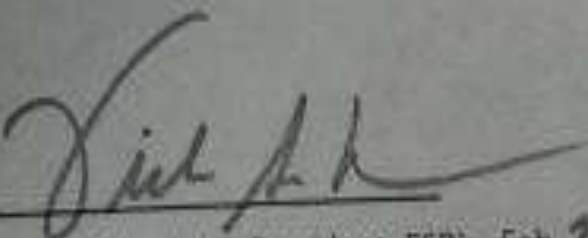

This Memorandum of Understanding may be amended in writing at any time by mutual agreement between the parties.

SECTION VI - TERMINATION

This MOU may at any time be terminated by any party, so long as the terminating party notifies the other party, with at least thirty (30) day notice before the termination is effective.

CHAPTER 4

Count your Blessings: Gratitude and its Role in Enhancing Self -Esteem & Resilience Among Under Graduate Students

-Puja Khatri & Dr. Sumedha Dutta

Abstract: Positive psychology has ushered a new wave of interest towards understanding the biological, social and psychological bases of human emotions. As the intricacies of diverse emotions are further untied, gaps in understanding are exposed. One of the most apparent of those gaps relates to the construct of gratitude, which has undoubtedly stimulated the thinking of many theological and philosophical writings. Scholars label gratitude as the most unstudied emotion, despite having established its supremacy in normal functioning in philosophical and theological accounts. Also, in the present era we are taking more stress than is good for our sense of well – being. Under graduate students experience stress and anxiety during their times in a new learning environment, especially, after moving away from their cocoon - school life. Resilience determines how well an individual copes with a transition. Since, under graduate students also have to go through this transition; the researchers want to study the role of resilience in this context. It is observed that a high level of self – esteem of a student, increases his confidence, his self – worth and this in turn, further, strengthens his or her resilience. So, we suggest that students with low self – esteem will be less resilient towards their efforts in recovering from stressful events in compared to students with a high level of self – esteem. Does gratitude help college students to recover from adverse situations and what is the role of self – esteem in this relationship? Is resilience dependent upon gratitude and self – esteem? This is another aspect that will be explored in the present work.

The present work provides a theoretical framework to study the role of gratitude in building self-esteem and resilience among under graduate students. The paper also provides significant guidance as to how to implement psychological interventions aimed at strengthening under graduate's resilience.

Keywords: Gratitude; Positive Psychology; Resilience; Self-Esteem.

Introduction

In the past decade, a notable development in the field of psychology has been the surfacing of a broad perspective, named, positive psychology. The 'positive' branch harmonizes, without substituting or overlooking, the conventional areas of concern of psychology. The emergence of positive psychology has transformed the focus of researchers by igniting their interest towards the study of psychological phenomena. Positive psychology stresses that undivided focus on disorders will result in understanding a person's condition only at the surface level (Peterson, 2009); the root – cause(s) of the problem will still remain unattended. Moreover, positive psychology focuses on constructs such as well-being, flow, mindfulness, happiness, personal strengths, creativity, wisdom, etc that helps an individual to successfully fend for himself in this competition – driven world. In other words, just like the bird phoenix rises from its ashes, the application of positive psychology rejuvenates the soul of a blistered body. It doesn't solely aim on making individuals happy and thereby propagate a narcissist approach; rather it aims on spreading happiness and flourishing at group level as well. Thus, positive psychology is the study of how human beings thrive in the face of hard-ships (Seligman & Csikszentmihalyi, 2000).

Complexities and set-backs have always seen an uphill in amidst of diverse range of challenges, such as global warming, economic recession, political upheavals, terrorism, natural calamities, etc. These endless events act as an agent in ushering new developments in the field of Positive Psychology. One such construct of positive psychology that is yet to attain its legitimate stature is 'gratitude'. Scholars (McCullough, Emmons & Tsang, 2002; Wood, Joseph & Linley, 2007) label it as the most unstudied emotion, despite having established its supremacy in normal functioning in philosophical and theological accounts (Emmons & Crumpler, 2000). In fact, in the prominent Aristotle's lists of virtues, gratitude doesn't occupy any place. Apart from its ignorance, various contemporary trends have also made the time ripe for empirically establishing the significant nature of gratitude. Psychologists who have devoted themselves to attaining the real purpose of positive psychology are quite interested in surfacing those psychological propensities which makes the life richer and as stated by Dietrich Bonhoeffer (1967) "...it is only with gratitude that life becomes rich", pp. 370. So, the researchers have made an attempt to unravel the hidden potential of gratitude as one of the identified propensities that makes the life fuller. Also, the resurgent attention towards virtue ethics, a sub-branch of moral psychology, which considers gratitude as an essential ingredient for the moral personality (Hurtshouse, 1999; Taylor, 2002), is responsible for making it a promising time for gratitude. Moreover, the renewed concern of social scientists in people's religious and spiritual lives which has gratitude at its roots, has also prompted the researchers to dwell on this

Twists and Turns in Academic Leadership during COVID-19 Pandemic

-Puja Khatri & Sumedha Dutta

Abstract

Recognizing the add-on value of a collegiate education continues to be the dominant area of focus of college impact research. A plethora of published research exists wherein an extensive range of critical outcomes have been explored extending from cognitive advancement to educational accomplishment and tenacity. However, turbulent changes in the present times has created a demand to explicitly study the apparent changes and impact of academic leadership on higher education college students' capacities. As a sense of immediacy swept the nation, academic leaders across the globe have retorted by shifting their educational and related activities online. The move towards remote learning was made speedily, principally by those institutions following a shared leadership model. The present work highlights three of the leadership exemplary practices for successfully managing adaptive challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic. Firstly, by utilizing a type of servant leadership, that emphasizes empowerment, involvement, and collaboration, academic leaders with emotional intelligence and emotional stability should place the interests of others above their own. Secondly, academic leaders should distribute leadership responsibilities to a network of teams throughout the organization to improve the quality of the decisions made in crisis resolution and thirdly, leaders should communicate clearly and frequently to all stakeholders through a variety of communication channels. Looking forward, the rise of the flexible "allostatic leader" with the adaptive capacity to learn and evolve in crisis, to emerge better able to address future crises, is described. Thus, the objective is to synthesize literature related to academic leadership and COVID-19 so that new insights can be explored.

Keywords: Academic leadership; COVID – 19; Distributed Leadership; Higher Education; Leadership; Pandemic.

Introduction

One could never get exhausted with investigating and examining leadership. The construct of leadership has numerous perspectives and magnitudes which whenever explored presents fresh ideas and inspiration. Additionally, it serves as a prism for reviewing other processes and subjects (Floyd & Fung, 2017).

The authors, in light of the existing COVID-19 pandemic, would like to analyze some of the adversities it brought upon academia as well as on the higher education. No one could ever suspect or predict the scope and scale of the coronavirus pandemic and its effects upon economies all over the world. The pandemic appeared astonishingly at a fast pace and apart from all its apparent desirable effects also highlighted some stimulating implications in the area of academic leadership. In the current section of introduction, the authors reflect on these implications which is aptly being referred as "the digital revolution" in academia and higher education.

Recognizing the add-on value of a collegiate education continues to be the dominant area of focus of college impact research (Pascarella & Terenzini, 2005). A plethora of published research exists wherein an extensive range of critical outcomes have been explored extending from cognitive advancement to educational accomplishment and tenacity. However, turbulent changes in the present times has created a demand to explicitly study the apparent changes and impact of academic leadership on higher education college students' capacities.

New developments in the field of academic leadership on one hand and the persistent stressful environment of COVID-19 among college students on the other hand, instigated the researchers' interest. An effort has been

Dear All,

I hope you are doing well.

Mittal & Associates welcomes you all to the Online Internship Program.

As you all know that due to Covid-19, the courts are presently closed for Regular work and only Online hearing of urgent matters is being done.

So, I am giving you facts of a case and you all have to research for the law available on this point.

A family consisting of A (father) and B, C, D, E, F and G (six sons) purchased a property in joint names of all the seven persons with equal share in 1961. Thereafter in 1965 Father A sold his 1/7th share in the property to all the remaining Six co-owners by virtue of a Registered sale deed and B, C, D, E, F and G became owners of 1/6th equal shares each in the said property. In 1966, one brother B also sold his 1/6th share in the said property in favour of all the remaining 5 co-owners by Registered Sale Deed. Now C, D, E, F and G became owners of 1/5th shares each in the property. Thereafter in 1983 two brothers C and D executed a Registered Relinquishment Deed separately, thereby relinquishing all their rights, title and interest in the said property in favour of E and by virtue of this, E became owner of 60% while F and G remained owners of 20% each in the said property. As regards the possession is concerned, E is having possession of only about 15% while the remaining 85% is occupied by F and G.

In 1985, E filed a suit for Partition by Metes and Bound and also for Possession with respect to 3/5th i.e. 60% share in the said property thereby impleading F and G besides C and D, who have already relinquished their shares in favour of E. During the trial, C and D also admitted the execution of Registered Relinquishment Deed in favour of E but wriggle out while filing written statement. However, in Income Tax and Wealth Tax Returns, C and D never shows their share in the said property after 1983. The Ld. Trial Court, though admitting the execution of Regd. Relinquishment Deed by C and D in favour of E but hold that the Relinquishment Deeds have been executed to avoid and payment of stamp duty thereby holding that all the five brothers are entitled for 20% shares each in the said property.

Now E filed an appeal thereby challenging the finding of the Ld. Trial Court on the point that when C and D have admitted the execution of separate Regd. Relinquishment deed in his favour, then court should have allowed 60% share in favour of E and 20% each in favour of F and G.

You have to research on this point that after execution of Regd. Relinquishment Deed by C and D in 1983 in favour of E and thereafter C and D admitting the execution thereof in the written statement filed before the court and further not showing themselves as co-owner in the Wealth Tax Returns filed before the Income Tax authorities, E should have been held entitled to 60%.

I am giving you all an opportunity to research on this point that E is entitled for 60 % right/share in the property.

In case any of you want to discuss any thing more on this aspect, you are free to call me at any time between 10 AM to 7 PM on any working day.

We shall also meet personally as and when the lock down is lifted.

Thanking you,

Dear All,

I had given you one preposition for searching the law on that aspect. However, I received the telephonic call and research work details from Rushant and Harsh only.

Now I am giving all of you to research further on new preposition pertaining to Section 138 of the Negotiable Instrument Act.

X approached ABC & Co. Dubai for supply of some goods worth Rs. 40 Lakhs approximately. X also paid advance payment of Rs. 13 Lakhs but in Foreign current as the payment was to be made for Dubai concern. ABC & Co. owned by A was also having one concern with the name of ABC only having office in Delhi. All the transactions for supply of goods from Dubai also took place in Delhi office. ABC & Co. failed to supply the goods to X and also failed to refund the advance amount. Later on A issues a cheque from Delhi firm in favour of X for Rs. 10 Lakh which was dishonoured on presentation. Complaint u/s 138 filed against ABC wherein besides ABC in personal capacity being signatory, his concern ABC only and ABC & Co. were also arrayed as accused. Now A claimed that ABC only has no liability towards X, which issued the cheque. Liability was outstanding against ABC & Co. Dubai only. But admittedly A is authorised person to sign the cheque in both the concern i.e. Delhi concern ABC only and Dubai concern ABC & Co.

You have to search for the law that A is liable for the offence under section 138 of the Negotiable Instrument Act for the cheque issued by A (authorised signatory) from ABC only but liability outstanding against ABC & Co. Dubai.

Please revert via E-mail or my whats-app No. 9811030258.

Thanking you,

Dear Ma'am,

Warm Greetings!

This is in furtherance of our correspondence regarding summer internship. I am deeply grateful that you have agreed to enroll another student in place of Aakash, who could not avail the benefit of this internship due to unavoidable circumstances. Hope our students have been working as per your expectation. In case of any issues please feel free to contact us.

Further, the work environment provided by you has led to the great curiosity among our students, who are now approaching us to work under your mentorship.

I am recommending the name of two (6th Semester) students who have shown keen desire and interest to pursue this internship. If possible you may please consider both for this internship.

Best Regards

Dear Sir/ Ma'am

Internship Cell of School of Law, Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Management Studies (MAIMS), Rohini, Delhi, is keenly looking for "Online Summer (May-June, 2020) Internship" opportunities for its B.A.LL.B. students.

The School of Law, MAIMS with its immense capacity building and skill development approach seeks to be a pioneer in the realm of clinical legal education. The School of Law believes in holistic growth and development of young budding legal professionals.

Our endeavor is to enable our students to become good human beings and excellent professionals. Our students are zealous, optimistic and are full of enthusiasm and eagerness to learn.

In this pandemic situation of Covid 19, with which whole world is fighting today, we are mindful of the facts that majority of us are working from homes when the access to organizations, offices and courts is completely or partially restricted. We really salute your work spirit and in conformity to same, our law students are keenly looking for avenues of online summer internships to learn and develop new and better skills. We seek your guidance and mentorship for our students in these times by providing them the opportunity to be associated with you/ your esteemed organization.

Internship cell, School of Law, MAIMS invites you to help us assist our students by providing avenue of online internship opportunity to them and enabling them to understand nuances of our legal profession. Please let us know your specific requirements, application process and no. of internship vacancies.

We also look forward to hear from you at the earliest. For further query, please feel free to revert to our Student Coordinator Anurag Singh (M-9873532857).

Hello Maam, It will be an honor to accommodate the interns with us. We are esteemed associates and members of Dr. Adish Agarwal Chambers Lucknow. You can find us on aalc.in and respectively on our business sites. We offer internships with regard to court work, research work, and report making. We have vacancies for 10-20 interns whom we shall select and interview for our research work. We prefer students who have prior experience in research and have attended any activity involving research like moot courts, MUN's, parliamentary debates, etc. As of now, we have three projects in line: 1) Compassionate Appointment in Service Laws 2) Research Report on Financial Status of Women since 2014 3) International Agenda of Sustainable Development The former will be developed in the form of a book and later in the form of reports which will be submitted to the respective ministries and departments. The international report is to be submitted to UN Women and shall be presented in one of their conferences. For the third, we shall prefer female candidates. The interns will be prima facie given classes on how research is to be conducted. This shall be for all the selected candidates and can be departed generally as per your convenience. We shall then select the individual candidates for aforesaid research work. We have also devised a category for first and second-year candidates who shall be interested in data compiling and data analysis work. The classes shall be taken by one of our associates, Ms. Kaviya Singh, and then individually other associates will form group with the selected candidates. The internship will be a minimum of one month and a maximum of six months. The students must have mandatory access to manupatra, SCC Online or Indian Kanoon. The students are requested to attend the online seminar in formals. Following is the google link for submitting their interests which includes a mandatory 250-word writeup relating to what they understand from the area they wish to work in. Higher Education Post COVID-19 in India

Dr. Umesh Chandra Pathak & Nalini Ranjan

Abstract

All organisations and companies mandated that their employees work from home once the Corona virus spread to our nation's roots in mid-February. The lockdown has accelerated the adoption of new technology. To improve the quality and turnaround time for these scenarios, business organisations, educational institutions, analytics, computers, data processing systems, and online education technologies have been forced to work together. Online learning has taken over as the standard means of instruction throughout the whole planet during this protracted lockdown following COVID-19. For the long-term institutions and community members, managers, and students, it just means things are becoming more evident. The paper's primary goal is to obtain understanding of the evolving dynamics of India's education sector.

Introduction

When the corona virus moved into our country's roots in mid-February, all of the organizations and businesses required their workers to work from home. The lockdown has speeded up new technology adoption. Business houses, educational institutes, analytics, computers, data processing systems and online education technologies have been compelled to operate in tandem to boost the quality and delivery time to handle these situations. This is an optimal time for experimenting and deploying new tools to make educational delivery meaningful to students who cannot attend campuses. It's an opportunity for online learning and assessment to be more efficient and competitive while building new and better technical skills / knowledge.

It is also a fact that the use of technology in education results in different changes in the program, for example changing from teacher-centered education to student-centered education.

Today, we spoke about virtual classrooms and numerous online tools allow us to make the interaction between teacher and students as similar as possible to a

Abstract

With a deeper understanding in connection with lockdown scenario in the period of COVID-19, many new and abnormal solutions turn into new normal. However, with loads of problems, somehow together we have now managed to turn our business with new dealings followed by varied mysteries. Undoubtedly, we are now turning into a noble mechanism as to drive in the direction of finding conclusive and ground-breaking results for the mass concerns in association with Internal Marketing Communications. Despite of challenges faced by organisations which are unparalleled to the existing scenario and can pretend like devastating effect in the pandemic situation, here in this paper, researchers have tried to drag

The concepts of disruption of services with different prominent organisations in connection with the management of sales along with the requirements to manage workforce to induce them to operate remotely and off-course in analysing situations. Researchers have also focused on the issues like health & welfare of workforces and providing significant contribution to the society as well. In the face of a crippling pandemic, technology has emerged as a major lifesaver. Communication is a major key to our interconnected existence and technology is the driving force that maintains our connections.

Introduction

Today entire world stops working and praying for an unknown virus, i.e. Coronavirus infection (COVID-19) which is highly contagious in nature, there is no vaccine for COVID-19 and it holds the potential to affect people of all ages. It has been found that the virus is spread from one body to another through large droplets formed by the sneezing and coughing of an infected person. To date there is no vaccine available for this infection and no health care approved treatment has been provided so it is very important to prevent this infection in the early stages. People with chronic underlying disease are at higherrisk for COVID-19 infection, which can be fatal. Most of us are making big changes in our daily routines as countries introduce measures to control movement as part of efforts to reduce the number of people affected by COVID-19. Even after adopting working from home culture, infection may have changed the way it affects daily life of every individual. Fear and anxiety about this new disease and other strong emotions can be high, and workplace stress can lead to the burning of the external icon. How an individual may deal with these emotions and stress will affect your well-being, the well-being of those you care about, your workplace, and your community. During these epidemics, it is important for you to identify how stressful you are, to take action to build up your regression and manage work stress, and to know where to go if you need help. Many organizations from various sectors are trying to help the

Chapter 44: Performance Of Indian Corporate Sector

- Dr. Meghna Aggarwal

- CA Satyam Rastogi

- Dr. Rachna Jain

INTRODUCTION

The macroeconomic aspects of performance of any sector pertain to its contribution to the capital formation, national output, employment, fostering of a culture of innovation and national competitiveness in the global context. In India, the presence of corporate sector essentially is in the industrial and services sector and as such structurally it contrasts with the unincorporated or informal sector of India's industrial and services sector. The latter abounds numerically; wields little economic power; struggles for domestic and foreign capital despite contributing substantially to GDP, industrial production, national employment and exports. In this context, the performance of Indian corporate sector needs to be deeply investigated with respect to how it contributes to the national aspirations and developmental agenda.

STRUCTURE OF THE SECTOR

In terms of who owns or controls it, the corporate sector can be tracheotomized into state owned, foreign owned and domestically owned incorporated entities. These may be private limited entities or public limited entities, the latter being either listed companies or unlisted companies. This approach to the understanding of the structure of the corporate sector implies its financialization that in turn has a lot of significance on the resultant governance and management of these enterprises and the larger issues impinging upon the economy as a whole. According to a recent study, the manner of financialization of the corporate sector in India may be responsible for the growing current account deficit (CAD) and the falling value of the Indian rupee.

Functionally, the structure of the corporate sector may be interpreted in terms of its activity spectrum. For instance, the relative share of the sector in construction and manufacturing within the industrial sector speaks volume of its extant and likely contribution to India's manufacturing capability. Likewise, the relative contribution to industrial and services sector implies the direction of its progress.

KEY DIMENSIONS OF CHANGES IN PATTERNS OF CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

India has initiated major changes in the pattern of corporate governance, in many

Chapter 46: Role Of Young Entrepreneurship In Developing Indian Economy

Dr. Sheetal Badesra

Dr. Geetanjali Gupta

Abstract

Youth is the prospect of every nation of the earth tomorrow. This statement stands true in every sense. When a country has a healthy youth population, you will find the country making advancement in terms of overall development and progress. Recently, interest in youth entrepreneurship has been fuelled due to high levels of unemployment amongst young people and as a way to foster employment opportunities or to address social exclusion. Youth entrepreneurship has gained more importance in recent years in many countries including India, with increased interest in entrepreneurship as a way of boosting economic competitiveness and promoting regional development.

Keywords: Youth entrepreneurship, Economic development, Unemployment, Globalization

Introduction

Revolution in technology and globalization has impacted the whole world. Developing countries like India and China are growing rapidly both in terms of economic development as well as population. Growing economies provide plenty of opportunities for services and provide opportunities for entrepreneurs to set up small enterprises in various different fields. There are huge opportunities for individual enterprise in IT Services, Financial services, Travel and Tourism, Food, Supply chain, Health care services and many more fields.

The world today has transited into a 'Technology Era'. Technology has enabled growth in all fields and all societies. Technological revolution has changed the face of lives of people bringing healthcare, information and connectivity to even the most remote areas that were hereto isolated. Globalization has brought countries together and created entire world market.

Government should focus on looking at framework and strategies to creating new jobs and increasing youth employment rates. However there is also a need for the policy makers to look specifically at the Youth unemployment and related issues. In some of the countries youth entrepreneurship is being recognized as a promising alternative and is being actively promoted by various agencies. If promoted actively, Youth entrepreneurship can help sustain growing economies; integrate youth into the workforce besides leading to overall development of society.

Entrepreneurship in any society is a sign of advancement. The IT business in US has been the bedrock for youth entrepreneurship
