As, we all know that education system in India has made progress in recent years, but there is still a long way to go.

In the event, a total of 29 students participated. They represented G20 nations either individually or in a group of two as the delegates. The duration of the event was 2 hours. Every delegate was given 2.5 minutes to present their speech. The conference provided an excellent opportunity for students to engage with complex issues, build networks, and develop their critical thinking and leadership skills. These sessions were moderated by facilitators who encouraged dialogue and the exchange of ideas.

The event was judged by Dr. Gaurav Aggarwal (Head of Economics Department) along with Ms. Kshama Aggarwal, Ms.Saloni Arora, Sakshi Gupta, and Ms Diksha Goel.

The agenda of discussion was Deliberation on the current Education System. All the participants debated their country's progress over the years in terms of the education system. There were also breakout sessions where participants(country) engaged in small question fire round, and in which the defender had to defend their country. Participants also highlighted the need for greater diversity and inclusivity in the education system, including the need to address discrimination and bias. The winners were rewarded by Ms. Kshama Aggarwal, and Ms Saloni Arora.

The winners were based on the marking system. The First Position was named as Best Delegate and earned by Manya Srivastava (Germany). The second position was named as high commendation & earned by Sparsh Surana, (China). They both were combative with their speech. And finally, third position i.e., Special Mention was given to Saanya Mohanty and Somya Singh (Australia). The event was not only intellectual but also an amusing and interactive session, which was a resounding success.
