*‘Arthonomics-the economics society of MAIMS’ successfully planned and organised an event on the discussion of the interim budget 2024, “Empowering Finance; Budget Par Charcha” on February 20th,2024 for the students. The event was organised for students to have a deeper comprehension of the budget through insightful conversation on the interim budget 2024.

The event started by the warm welcome from the anchors of the event, Gopesh Lama and Palak Sharma, to Dr. Gaurav Aggarwal, HOD, Department of Economics, Ms. Saloni Arora, Miss. Kamna Vaid, Miss. Sakshi Gupta, Miss Diksha Goel and all the students.

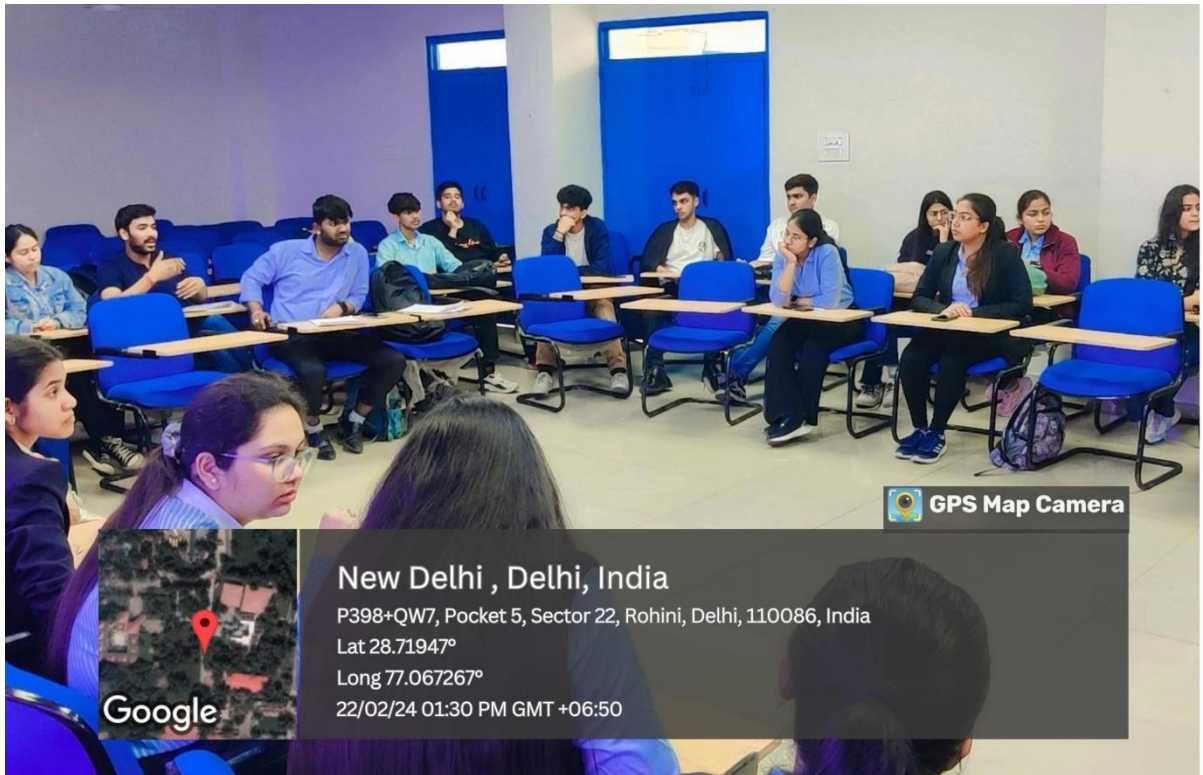

They gave a brief overview of the subject and discussed the discussion's subtopics with the attendees. The budget's principal features were spoken about. Attendees engaged in a constructive debate regarding the nation's present economic situation while fervently responding to all of the hosts' queries.

Economic policies, including capital and revenue expenditures, foreign investments, tax collection, and other government policies, were covered during the brainstorming session to enable guests gain a better understanding of the state of the country's economy.

Following the exchange of views regarding the various policies, Dr. Gaurav Aggarwal posed some interesting questions to the students in an effort to stimulate meaningful conversation and further the topic. Some students looked more willing than others to share their ideas and opinions.

Everyone who took part did so with tremendous enthusiasm. Everyone learned something from the occasion. A vote of gratitude was held to acknowledge the professors' and participants' invaluable contributions. Every participant gave their all during the symposium, which was an enormous success.

Discussion on budget in progress

Teachers making sure that the session is insightful

A successful and fruitful session.
