Introduction:

Arthonomics, The Economics Society of MAIMS, successfully organized Battle of Rackets 3.0, a badminton tournament, on March 11, 2025. The event aimed to provide students with a platform to enhance their competitive spirit, and foster a culture of sportsmanship. It also encouraged active participation, teamwork, and a healthy balance between academics and extracurricular activities, contributing to the overall development of students.

Objective of the Event: To actively engage students in sports while fostering teamwork, sportsmanship, and healthy competition. The tournament provides a platform for players to showcase their badminton skills and enhance their overall performance.

Event Details:

The tournament began with great enthusiasm as participants gathered for a competitive day of badminton. The court was divided into two distinct categories—singles and doubles to showcase both individual talent and team coordination. This division helped ensure that the competition was well organized and fair to all players.

Number of Participants:

- Singles: 48 players
- Doubles: 28 teams

Winners:

- Singles Champion: Etaash
- Doubles Champions: Akshat and Etaash

The matches were hard-fought and intense, highlighting the dedication of every competitor. Their outstanding performances stood out in a field of strong participants, setting a high standard for future contests.

The event was marked by smooth organization and spirited competition that truly brought out the best in every participant. It not only provided an excellent platform for competitive play but also helped build a strong sense of sportsmanship and community. Every match was conducted with precision, allowing players to fully focus on their performance. The vibrant atmosphere and collective enthusiasm underscored the event's success and positive impact.

Arthonomics is committed to organizing more such events to further nurture talent and promote sporting culture.
