Arthonomics - The Economics Society of MAIMS, organised Budget par charcha, demystifying the National Budget 2025 for the students of economics department on 19th February 2025. The objective of the event was to break down complex budgetary provisions into accessible insights, fostering informed discussions on economic policies, fiscal priorities, and their real-world economic impact. The event was held effortlessly and was a success.

Objective of the Event: Budget Par Charcha: Demystifying the National Budget 2025 aims to simplify and analyze key budgetary policies, providing a platform for meaningful discussions on their economic and social implications. By fostering an engaging dialogue, the event seeks to enhance understanding, encourage diverse perspectives, and equip participants with valuable insights into the nation's fiscal roadmap.

Event Details: The event commenced with a warm welcome to our esteemed guest teachers, setting the stage for an engaging and thought-provoking session. The discussion was initiated with a meticulously crafted presentation by the students of Arthonomics, strategically outlining the key highlights of the National Budget 2025. This presentation served as the foundation for the debate, shedding light on crucial sectors such as taxation reforms, agriculture, and infrastructure. As the session progressed, students delved into an in-depth analysis of the budget, presenting compelling arguments both in favor of and against various policies. The discussion was dynamic, with sharp insights, critical evaluations, and passionate exchanges shaping the discourse. The event concluded on a high note, with a balanced reflection on both the strengths and shortcomings of the budget, leaving everyone with valuable takeaways and a deeper understanding of its broader economic implications.

The event was a resounding success. Arthonomics is enthusiastic about organising more such events in the future.
