About the course

Capacity-building on an individual level requires the development of conditions that allow participant to build and enhance existing knowledge and skills. It also calls for the establishment of conditions that allow individuals to engage in the “process of learning and adapting to change.” Research is a simultaneous process of thinking, studying, analysing and writing. Social science research is characterized by diversity of theoretical perspectives, methodological strategies, data collection practices and analysis techniques.

This has made it always necessary to provide training and orientation on a continuing basis to young learners to equip them with methodological skills. It is a matter of concern; the underprivileged groups such as SC/STs are poorly represented in higher educational institutions.

Moreover, the undergraduates belonging to the group are lacking skills to maintain sustainable high quality academic standards due to inadequate skill building exercises. In order to deal with this problem, the marginalized groups require capacity building in research and other academic activities. In India most of the students face difficulty to finalize their project reports and research writing in a presentable form. Therefore, any researcher has to be well-equipped and must have control over the research methodology and their techniques.

Department of commerce, MAIMS is organizing a 30-hours Fundamental of Research Writing for learners in Social Sciences from 27 March, 2025. The Course will include various aspects of research methodology and techniques used, in the field of social sciences.
