"Environmental Awareness Quiz" aimed at engaging youth in meaningful dialogue and education about environmental issues. This initiative will not only raise awareness but also empower students with the knowledge to make informed decisions about their impact on the environment.

An online environmental quiz was conducted for 25 undergraduate students to raise awareness about critical environmental issues and encourage sustainable practices. The quiz comprised 20 multiple-choice questions covering topics such as climate change, pollution, renewable energy, waste management, and biodiversity. Participants had 20 minutes to complete the quiz, and the average score achieved by the students indicating a moderate understanding of environmental concepts. While most students performed well on questions related to climate change and recycling, many struggled with topics like renewable energy technologies and global environmental policies, highlighting areas where further education is needed.

A cash prize was awarded to the top performers in the online environmental quiz. The first prize of Rs. 500 was presented to Devyani Solanki (BALLB, MAIMS), who secured the highest score in the quiz. The second prize of Rs. 250 was awarded to Ankita Aggarwal (Eco (H), MAIMS), the runner-up. These prizes were given in recognition of their outstanding performance and commitment to environmental awareness.

Overall, the quiz successfully engaged students and revealed key areas for improvement in their environmental knowledge. The results emphasized the importance of continued education on advanced environmental topics and policies. Going forward, follow-up initiatives, such as workshops or additional quizzes, could help deepen students' understanding and reinforce sustainable behaviours.

The online environmental quiz was a successful initiative in promoting environmental awareness among undergraduate students. The results indicated a solid understanding of basic environmental concepts, while also revealing areas for further education. Such quizzes play a vital role in fostering a culture of sustainability and environmental responsibility among students.
