Hawan Ceremony

The Department of Commerce organized a sacred Hawan Ceremony on 18th February 2026 at the college Yagyashala. The ceremony was conducted to invoke positivity, spiritual harmony, and collective well-being within the academic environment. Such initiatives reflect the institution's commitment to preserving cultural values while fostering unity and mindfulness among students and faculty members.

The ceremony began with the chanting of Vedic mantras by the priest, creating a serene and spiritual atmosphere in the Yagyashala. Students and faculty members actively participated in offering ahuti (sacred offerings) into the holy fire as per the rituals. Most of the faculty members of the Department of Commerce were present during the ceremony, marking their enthusiastic involvement and support. Their presence added dignity and significance to the occasion. The event witnessed disciplined participation, and everyone followed the rituals with sincerity and devotion. The environment of the Yagyashala was filled with spiritual vibrations, promoting positivity and calmness among all attendees.

The Hawan ceremony served as a reminder of the importance of cultural roots and traditional practices in modern educational institutions. It provided a moment of reflection, gratitude, and collective harmony. Such spiritual gatherings contribute to building a positive academic atmosphere and emotional well-being within the campus community.

Conclusion

The Hawan organized by the Department of Commerce on 18th February 2026 was conducted successfully and with great devotion. The active participation of teachers and students made the event meaningful and spiritually enriching. The ceremony concluded with prayers for prosperity, wisdom, and continued success of the institution.
