The Interdisciplinary Faculty Lecture Committee of MAIMS organized a lecture on "Decoding Union Budget 2026: Insights and Implications" as part of its Internal Faculty Knowledge Exchange Programme. The session aimed to enhance faculty members' understanding of the Union Budget 2026 and its implications for the Indian economy, industry, trade, investment, and employment.

The lecture was delivered by Ms. Shreya Garg, Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce, MAIMS, and Ms. Simran Sharma, Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce, MAIMS. The resource persons discussed the major provisions and economic priorities of the Union Budget 2026, highlighting their significance for India's economic development.

The session focused on the Budget's emphasis on domestic manufacturing, infrastructure development, technological advancement, and investment-led economic growth. The discussion also highlighted the importance of strengthening India's industrial capabilities, reducing import dependence, improving supply-chain resilience, and enhancing the country's competitiveness in global markets.

The resource persons also discussed the growing significance of creative industries, digital infrastructure, innovation, and skill development in the changing economic landscape. The session emphasized how government policies can influence business activities, entrepreneurship, employment opportunities, and the overall growth of different sectors.

The lecture provided an interactive platform for faculty members to exchange ideas and develop a deeper understanding of the relationship between government policies and economic development. It also encouraged participants to examine the implications of budgetary decisions from interdisciplinary perspectives and relate them to contemporary business and management practices.

The session was insightful and informative, contributing to the objectives of the Internal Faculty Knowledge Exchange Programme. The programme concluded with a formal vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to Ms. Shreya Garg and Ms. Simran Sharma for sharing their knowledge and insights, and to all participating faculty members for their valuable presence and participation.
